

PRINCETON AND C.S. LEWIS: Learning from an Oxbridge Polymath

Friday, May 20, 2022 @ 2:00 pm-3:00 pm

Frist Campus Center, Film and Performance Theatre, Rm 301

Thousands of Princetonians sense a unique debt to the literary titan of Oxford and Cambridge, C. S. Lewis. In this gathering we will probe the unique intellectual, literary and spiritual impact of Lewis on Old Nassau over the past 80 years. The centerpiece of this event is a guest visit with Max McLean, renowned stage artist and movie actor who filled US theaters (including McCarter Theater) portraying C.S. Lewis over the past decade. Prof Emeritus John Fleming and several alumni will share remembrances. A panel discussion with Q/A will conclude the event. (Max McLean at right, C.S. Lewis at left. His movie, released 2021, is "The Most Reluctant Convert: The Untold Story of C.S. Lewis.)

Co-Chairs of the Event :
